How To Print – Cirrato Follow Print

Cirrato Follow Print sends print jobs to a cloud-based queue rather than directly to a specific printer. Users are then able to print documents from any printer by swiping their registered keycard at the printer and selecting “Pull Print,” when prompted.

Cirrato Registration:

1. Walk up to a printer and select the Cirrato icon on the home screen.
2. Swipe your ID badge.
3. A registration page will be printed.
4. Go to <https://printam.publicisgroupe.net/Cirrato/SelfServic.e/>
5. Sign in using your Lion Login credentials.
6. Follow the instructions on the print-out to complete registration.

Health & Wellness

Health Center: Located on the 11th Floor and there is a nurse there daily.

Any Questions reach out to Mary Kelly, Health Care Manager at P: 212-463-3220 C: 914-439-4627 E: Mary.Kelly@premisehealth.com

Chiropractor Services:

Dr. Fran Sarullo, Dr. Melinda Keller, and Dr. Jared Hoffman are committed to bringing you a better way of life through chiropractic wellness. They recognize that chiropractic treatment is a natural healing art and is extremely helpful for common ailments experienced after long days of sitting, computer time, and a fast-paced, often stressful professional life.

They are located in the building on the 11th floor, in the Health Center, offering Chiropractic services on Wednesdays. The sessions average 20-30 minutes.

They offer every fourth visit at no fee and a gift of no charge visit for a thank you for any referral.

Insurance

- They accept a $40 co-payment as payment in full. The insurance department does bill Blue Cross (or another insurance company if applicable); however, most people have very high deductibles, and they usually receive no additional payments.

Making an appointment

- Please text Dr. Melinda Keller at 917-805-4678 to make an appointment. She will provide you with a link to sign up for a slot that works with your schedule and ask you to fill out a Patient Information form.

Guest Wi-Fi

LionGuest is a wireless network reserved for contractors, vendors and guests. Any Groupe employee can create an account for a guest. For larger groups, Re:Sources can create special accounts with a shared password.

Only create accounts for guests that you know. You are responsible for any misconduct.

Guest accounts can last up to 90 days, but the default is one week.

Creating a Guest Wi-Fi Account:

Log into the portal (<http://sponsor.publicisgroupe.net>) with your Lion Login username and password.

Enter your guest's information in the required fields and the length of their visit, then click the Create button.

The system will display your guest's account information, including their password. You can notify them via email or by printing the information. By default, no communication is sent unless you click Notify button.

Your guest signs in with the username and password you provide. The wireless network name is LionGuest.

Additional information can be found here.

Important On-Site Catering Information

Catering Support (CS) is on-site to help facilitate the delivery and set-up of your catering order.

Hours of Operation: 7AM - 4PM

Should you require assistance after 4PM, 48-hour notice is required. Please send details to:

Catering_Support_376Hudson_RES_TEAM_WW@lionresources.com

Consider when planning:

1. When requesting China to be used for your event, you will need more tables to setup food as China plates and serving dishes take more space than paper plates, etc.
2. If a vendor or client is purchasing the catering, please include the agency name and phone number of onsite contact.
3. If you require Catering Support to remove food, for example, removing breakfast in order for lunch to be set up, please include this information in your communication to Catering Support.

Catering & Delivery Instructions

1. Place your catering order and expense to your brand/agency (see list of caterers on next page).
2. Forward the instructions below to the catering company regarding delivery instructions.
 - “When making your delivery, please use the freight elevator located on the corner of King Street & Greenwich Street. Delivery ticket must contain, agency contact, phone number, conference room name/number and floor. Once you get to the loading dock, please call 212-463-2200 and a mailroom associate will come and escort your team to the appropriate floor and conference room”
3. To ensure timely delivery of catering, email all details to the basement mailroom team:
ReSources_375_Hudson_Mailroom_RES_TEAM_USA@groups.publicisgroupe.net
 - Name of caterer
 - Date & time it will arrive
 - Conference room & floor number it will go to
 - Employee host name & contact number

For any additional catering questions, please call or email Sue Weit at 212-468-3086 or John Rivera at 212-463-2200

List of Hot Spots Near the Office

Coffee Shop & Bakery

Maman

375 Hudson Street Website

French bakery Maman is an NYC favorite — which may just have the best chocolate chip cookies in the city — and their newest (and largest) location is another must-visit.

The business first began in SoHo back in 2014 and rapidly expanded to multiple locations in Manhattan and Brooklyn. Maman, which means mother in French, is mainly inspired by the two founding partners' childhood memories from the South of France, and the menu is largely focused on recipes they picked up from their moms.

“Maman King” opened about in January 2021 at 375 Hudson St. (on the corner of Hudson & King) and is the French cafe’s largest (and most beautiful) location yet.

Designed by none other than Floratorium (see many of their other exquisite dining locations across NYC here!), the “Maman King” space transports you to a lush greenhouse garden. The floral design company said it was their biggest installation to date, and took thousands of branches, greenery and florals (plus a fantastic team) to completely transform the space. They called the inspiration “Jumanji” meets “The Secret Garden”!

Coffee Shop & Bakery

Mah ze Dahr

28 Greenwich Ave Website

Mazedar is an Urdu word for a food's "essence" or "magic," and this bakery's signature desserts—dense with chocolate, buttered pecans, brown sugar oatmeal crust and salted caramel—certainly have a magical quality. The West Village spot's founder, Umber Ahmad, is of Pakistani descent and is a protégé of Tom Colicchio's.

She and executive pastry chef Shelly Barbera (ex-Aldea and Brooklyn Fare) found success with a wholesale business before opening this flagship shop, which has a few seats opposite the tantalizing dessert case and a communal table in back. The dark chocolate brownies and brioche doughnuts are scrumptious.

Coffee Shop & Bakery

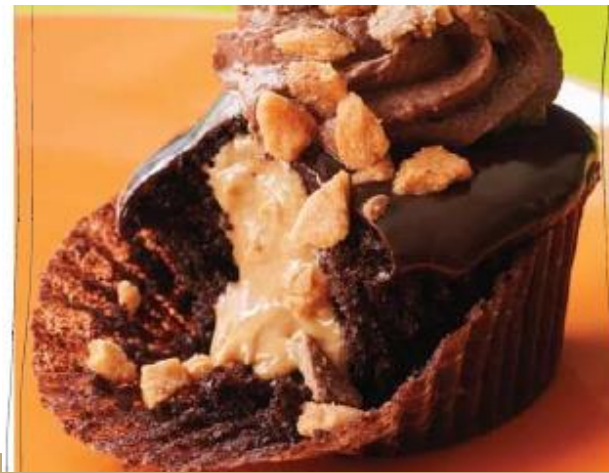

Molly's Cupcakes

228 Bleecker St. Website

Miss Molly: Molly was my third-grade teacher. Whenever one of us had a birthday, she would bake us cupcakes. I still remember how good they were. She had her own special recipe for chocolate and vanilla. Just about everyone who tries them thinks they're the best cupcakes ever.

Our Mission: In honor of Molly and as a way to help our children, a portion of our profits is donated directly to schools in our community. Every time you eat a cupcake or sip a latte, you help our kids. So eat up!

- Johnny, Chief Egg Cracker and Molly's Cupcake Founder

Coffee Shop & Bakery

La Colombe Coffee Roasters

75 Vandam Street Website

Best known for its strict sourcing practices, La Colombe Coffee Roasters is the chain on the rise. With 32 locations across the U.S. and more coming soon, the company is quickly growing because of its quality. "We immerse ourselves in local growing dynamics so that we can identify specific projects that can improve the quality of lives in the region while establishing a new standard for coffee quality," the chain says on its website. Connecting with the farms that grow the coffee is top-of-mind for this brand, so it can develop unique flavor profiles and better the farms and their communities.

La Colombe Coffee Roasters offers both locally-roasted coffee, which captures the flavors of states and cities across the country, and single-origin roasted coffee, which brings out flavors from regions around the world. For example, on the local end, the chain collaborated with The New Yorker to create The New Yorker Blend, which embodies sunny New York City days spent outdoors. The coffee shop is all about making people happy, and it does it through high-quality, unique coffee.

Westville

333 Hudson Street Website

In the last few years, Westville's have popped up all over Manhattan, which is probably a good thing since the original West Village outpost was way too tiny. You'll find every variation of comfort food, from mac and cheese to the hot dogs that made them famous. Beyond myriad toppings and preparations, they offer vegan dogs, too.

Goop.com

Lunch with Colleagues

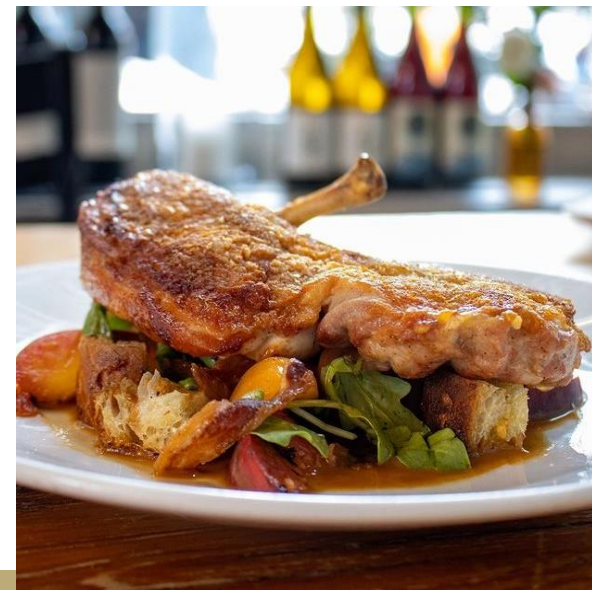

Market Table

54 Carmine St. Website

Produce abounds at Mike Price and Joey Campanaro's Carmine Street corner space. The idea of seasonal, local cooking isn't exactly cutting-edge, but know that Market Table was one of the first, and best, spots to fully embrace the farm-to-table ethos when you couldn't walk a block in this city without tripping over a pile of heirloom carrots.

Even if it's lost some sense of excitement, Market Table nevertheless delivers on the promise of its name, with an ever-changing menu that makes the most of New York's agriculture. The kitchen's salads, pastas, and simply prepared entrées are especially nice at lunch, when light pours into the big-windowed dining room.

Lunch with Colleagues

Little Owl

90 Bedford St. Website

Long before “neighborhood restaurant” entered the American lexicon, chef Joey Campanaro opened the Little Owl, a tiny restaurant with a high-brow but accessible menu. Standouts include his famous gravy meatball sliders, the pork chop with butter beans, the eight-ounce bacon cheeseburger, and a lovely risotto “bianco” with egg yolk and truffles. Just be sure to arrive early or make a reservation because this restaurant’s 32 seats tend to go fast a full decade since its opening.

Think of temaki as the Japanese version of tacos. Nami Nori is a cozy West Village spot to try the innovative hand rolls, stuffed with tuna poke and crispy shallots, yellowtail and scallion or lobster tempura and yuzu aioli (the menu also offers vegan options). Limited reservations are available for dinner, but people commonly line up on Carmine Street, willing to wait for a seat. There is also a good selection of beer, cider, sake, wine and matcha.

Jajaja Mexicana

63 Carmine St. Website

Plant based and plant filled, JaJaJa is a boozy, aqua-hued joint that evokes a Tulum beach café. The original Lower East Side branch sports a semi-enclosed outdoor patio under a thatched roof; three other locations dot the City. Vegan nachos come smothered with mock chorizo, black beans and turmeric queso fundido; add on chunky guacamole if you like. Beet and pumpkin empanadas, coconut queso quesadillas and churritos with coconut dulce de leche are also fantastic. The extensive selection of tequila and mezcal contributes to the party scene.

Dinner with Colleagues

St Tropez

304 West 4th Street Website

St Tropez Wine Bar is a cozy West Village destination with a large communal table inside; there's outdoor dining as well. The open kitchen turns out Provençal-style cuisine for brunch and dinner, such as a wild mushroom flatbread, grilled octopus, coquilles St-Jacques and ratatouille. The wine list is exclusively French.

Emily

35 Downing Street Website Order Online

Tough decisions await at the West Village branch of Emily, starting with scrumptious pizza or a fabulous double-patty dry-aged beef burger. To further break down the pizza option, there's Detroit-style (square, thick-crust) or round, thin-crust pies. Fan of the former? Then you'll have to choose between red sauce, vodka sauce, tomatillo sauce or no sauce—and agonize over toppings. But there are no mistakes. Go to town, it's all so good.

Au Cheval

33 Cortlandt Alley Website

‘There are a few key things to keep in mind when you’re deciding whether to go to Au Cheval, the NYC location of a pretty famous restaurant in Chicago. One, you’re going to wait a long time for a table. Two, you’ll probably be eating burgers and fries. And three, no matter what you order, you’ll leave wanting to sweat it all out and simultaneously be as inactive as possible. But as long as you know what you’re in for, this is an excellent place to eat too much meat and drink too much whiskey, without spending too much money...’

Tacombi

255 Bleecker St. Website

Like the one in Nolita, Tacombi's Bleecker street location feels a little like a charming street in Mexico: there are murals, string lights, and lots of people who are happy to be there. They open at 11am every day of the week, so come here for breakfast tacos at brunch or a weeknight dinner to reunite with your friend who you haven't seen since they started their own air freshener startup.

Best Taco

Los Mariscos

409 West 15th St. Website

Despite being technically located in a glorified mall, Los Mariscos' removed spot manages to feel like it's an open-air neighborhood taqueria somewhere in Mexico. There are a few picnic tables, an open kitchen, some fluorescent Christmas lights, and a small bar with soccer on TV where you'll grab a margarita. The whole operation is affordable, convenient, and efficient. And unlike Los Tacos No. 1, which still feels like it's in a food court, you can comfortably hang out at Los Mariscos for multiple rounds of beers and tacos.

DOMODOMO New York

140 W Houston St. Website

Sushi is plentiful in New York, of course, but this kitchen ups the ante of their hand rolls with top-notch nori, rice and fish. Some combinations are familiar while others are quirky and inspired. It's not just about sushi here, though. Two crunchy, sweet chili sauce-glazed shrimp rest atop crisp Korean pear and peppery arugula dressed in a yuzu vinaigrette for a citrusy bite; while udon satisfies with its classically seasoned broth and tender noodles.

This is as straightforward a bar as you'll find in the city. DGAF attitude, dad rock, and beers & well drinks are the key components here – it's all familiar, and that's a good thing.

It's the perfect place to take a break from the routinely expensive, sceney, and packed bars that you keep going back to. You'll leave wishing you had this place on your corner.

Only Employees Only is to thank for NYC's current obsession with old school cocktail. They were the pioneers. Without them, there is no Death & Co, Clover Club, Ward III, PDT, Little Branch...the list is endless. Employees Only paved the way and helped change the nightlife landscape in this city. Sure, it's always been a little pretentious, but we'll take a peacocked mixologist and his fancy drink over a bunch of Jersey goons and a bottle of Sky Vodka at a red-roped douchepad any day.
